The Sabrent 13-Port USB 2.0 Hub adds twelve additional USB 2.0 ports to your PC or Mac, allowing you to connect many USB devices simultaneously. This hub is uniquely designed so that two switches can each control a group of six devices. LED activity lights are provided so you can monitor usage. Providing data rates of up to 480Mbps, this hub is the ideal solution for transferring data between your computer and external USB storage devices. Equipped with a power supply, this USB hub provides electric current stability and effective operation of connected USB devices. It does not require any software or complicated installation process. With the slim, strip-shape design, it saves precious desktop space. It's extremely portable and easy to move between systems or take on the road.
